

Aposticha. Glory; both now.

Mode pl. 2. ∞ Pa.

$\overline{\text{N}}\text{e} \quad \text{Glo} - - \text{ry} \quad \text{to} \quad \text{the} \quad \text{Fa} - \text{ther} \quad \text{and} \quad \text{the}$ Son and the Ho - - ly Spir - - it.

$\text{Both} \quad \text{now} \quad \text{and} \quad \text{ev} - \text{er}, \quad \text{and} \quad \text{to} \quad \text{the} \quad \text{a} - \text{ges} \quad \text{of}$ a - ges. A - - - men.

$\text{To} - \text{day} \quad \text{on} \quad \text{Mount} \quad \text{Ta} - - - \text{bor}, \quad \text{O} \quad \text{Lord},$
You showed to Your fore - most Dis - ci - - ples, Pe - ter, James and John, the glo - ry of Your di - vine ap - pear - - - ance. For they watched as Your clothes were shin - ing white as the light, and Your face shone bright - er than the sun.

But they could not bear to look_____ and_____ see ^(Δ) Your un-bear - a - ble shin - - ing, ^(□) and they fell_____ on_____ _____ the ground._____ Then they_ heard a_____ voice ^(Δ) ^(□) bear - ing wit- ness_ from_____ a - bove, ^(Δ) "This is My be - - lov - ed_ Son, ^(□) who has come to the world_ to save_____ hu - - - man - - - - kind." ^(Δ)